Don't be a loafer. How the Lord must hate a loafer. How the men who make a success of this world hate a loafer. An exchange truthfully says that no man can afford to loaf. Time is too valuable an article to throw away. It is wrong to waste time; more so than to waste money, for the latter may be accumulated again, but every minute you lose is gone forever. Loafing breeds crime. An idle mind and idle body never amount to much.

Some people who own land near this place complain, and justly, too, about town folks walking through their fields, regardless of what damage may be done to the growing crops. Even if the owner of the land is not on hand to keep people out of his fields, they should have sufficient regard for the man's success in life not to tramp down any of his crops, even the clover in his fields will be damaged to a certain extent by a half dozen people walking through it. Most of the trespassing is done on Sunday when people are taking strolls over the hills.

The merchant wishes that your clothes would wear out; the doctor that you would get sick; the baker, butcher, grocer and restaurant that your supplies were exhausted; the hotel keeper that night time would come on and catch you from home; the jeweler that you would break your watch or clock; the coal mine owner that the weather was cold enough to freeze the whiskers on a house cat; the blacksmith that your wagon or plow was broken; the lawyer that some man would try to get a divorce from his wife; the undertaker that some one would die; the preacher that some one would get married; and the editor that some one would pay up his subscription.

As an inducement to get old subscribers to pay cash in advance, and to get as many new subscribers as possible, we are offering THE STAR for $1.00 a year, cash in advance. This don't mean that those who neglect to accept the offer are to get the paper for $1.00 a year. It simply means that all arrearages are to be paid for at the $1.50 a year rate, and that to get advantage of the special offer the subscription must be paid in advance.

Beautifying the Church.

The Helping Hand Society and Epworth League are having the auditorium of the Methodist Episcopal church beautified with handsome new paper for walls and ceiling and a new carpet, and are having the latest improved Welsbach gas lights for illumination. The Welsbach lights will be put into the lecture room of the church, and the Junior League is talking of re-papering the lecture room also. David Cochran and Will Ford began the papering on Monday of this week.

False Report.

Some person started the report in Reynoldsville that a Pittsburg firm returned a car load of blankets that had been purchased from the Woolen Mill Co. at this place. This is a false report. A special order of 6,000 pair of blankets were made and shipped to the Pittsburg Dry Goods Co., Pittsburg, some time ago, and on Monday a purchasing agent for the Pittsburg company came to Reynoldsville and bought 600 more pair of blankets, all the Woolen Mill Co. had in stock, and besides that left another large order for blankets. See! That is a different story.

Big Time, Sure Thing!

The committee that was appointed to make arrangements for the big Fourth of July celebration in this place are leaving no stone unturned to make it the biggest affair Reynoldsville has ever had. The program will be ready for publication next week. Invitations have been sent to a number of secret societies, not only in Jefferson county, but also Clarion and Clearfield counties, offering the following prizes: The society turning out the largest percentage of their membership in parade on that day will be awarded $50.00 in gold; the second largest percentage $30.00 in gold, and the third large percentage $20.00 in gold.

Killed by Lightning.

During a terrible thunder and rain storm at Eleanor about noon on Sunday, the fourteen-year-old daughter of James Bell, a coal miner, was struck and instantly killed by lightning. When the storm began the windows in Mr. Bell's house were raised and his daughter was in the act of putting a window down when an electric bolt struck the chimney, ran down a rafter to the side of the house and on down to where the girl stood, crossed the floor and went out at the back part of the house. Neighbors ran into the house immediately and found the girl dead and her mother badly shocked. It is likely Mrs. Bell will be deaf of one ear. The lightning struck the girl's left arm and ran down her side to the floor, tearing the shoe off her left foot. The funeral services over the remains of the maiden who was so suddenly hurled into eternity were held in the Cumberland Presbyterian church near Eleanor on Monday, conducted by Rev. Harry C. Thompson.

SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZED.

Good Corps of Teachers—High School Course Adopted.

The school directors of this borough met in Esq. Davis' office last Wednesday evening and organized. F. M. Brown was elected president of the board, M. M. Davis secretary, and Dr. W. B. Alexander treasurer. The first important business for the board to consider was the election of a principal. On the fourth ballot G. W. Lenkerd was elected. On Thursday evening the board elected the balance of the teachers with the exception of assistant principal. Friday evening N. B. Madden was elected assistant. The list of instructors for the ensuing term is as follows: Room No. 1, G. W. Lenkerd, principal; No. 2, N. B. Madden, assistant principal; No. 3, B. G. Woodward; No. 4, T. B. Mitchell; No. 5, C. C. Hammond; No. 6, Alice Doane; No. 7, Julia Kirk; No. 8, Britta Butler; No. 9, Jessie L. Smeltzer; No. 10, Cora Milliren; No. 11, Mary Patton; No. 12, Myrtle Geist.

The schools of Reynoldsville not only begin next year in a new and handsome school building, but also take up a three year high school course. Prof. Lenkerd has prepared a course, that has been approved by the State Superintendent and the County Superintendent, which prepares the pupils for the high school course. Hereafter a pupil entering the Reynoldsville schools at the age of six years will have an opportunity of graduating in nine years, or at the age of fifteen, in a high school course.

The term of school has been increased one month, making it an eight month term.

The following school tax was laid: Schools, 3 mills; school building, 3 mills; school bonds, 3 mills.

The following committees were appointed: Committee on text books, F. M. Brown, C. Mitchell and A. M. Woodward. Committee on supplies: M. M. Davis, Miles King and J. R. Pentz.

Now that the new corps of teachers for the Reynoldsville schools have been elected, the term increased one month, a high school course to be introduced and the schools to begin in the best school edifice in Jefferson county, every person in Reynoldsville should resolve to assist in both words and actions to make the coming year the most successful one in the history of our schools. The prospects for the future were never brighter, all things considered.

PRINCIPAL.

We clip the following from the DuBois Courier concerning the principal-elect of our schools:

Mr. G. W. Lenkerd is a young man who has been very well known in this vicinity for years, this part of the county being his home, in fact, all his life. He is recognized as one having an unflagging ambition to rise among educators to the ranks of the most successful and has bent his energies in that direction not only while acquiring his schooling, but ever since he became an instructor himself. He has followed teaching for seven years when not attending school; he is a graduate of the Clarion normal, of the class of '93, but at the present time he is away beyond the standard represented in the possession of the normal diploma. His work of making of himself a better scholar has been going on steadily, and there is perhaps not a more studious pupil in the higher grades of the public schools than he has been in his individual post graduate course. His work in the higher branches has been of exceptional tenacity, with corresponding results. He has been an instructor in the public schools of DuBois several terms, filled the position of principal of the Penfield graded schools two years and at one time was one of the leading instructors in the DuBois business college. When that institution was reorganized some time ago he was made its superintendent and has continued in that capacity since.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL.

N. B. Madden, who was elected assistant principal of our schools, has been an instructor in the Allegheny College, Meadville, the past year and will graduate at that institution of learning this month. Prof. Madden was highly recommended to the Reynoldsville school board by the faculty of the Allegheny College.
